

PRIVACY POLICY

We respect your privacy. Before you continue, we advise you to read our privacy policy regarding our user data collection below. Because this policy may change over time please re-read this policy periodically.

We collect visitor data and analyze traffic on our site to help us understand customer interests and improve the eNBP products. When you visit this site, a short text file called a cookie is downloaded to your computer, which is used to store small amounts of information. This information is collected for traffic analysis only. The cookie does not contain personal details. Depending on your browser, you can block/refuse cookies, get notified before they are placed or both. We do not sell, give, or trade the statistics to any third parties for data mining or marketing purposes. Nor will we sell, give or trade your private information (i.e., email address) with any third parties.